

Making Room for Miracles

The miracle that I request is: _____

I am entitled to miracles.

- Miracles are about practical, everyday needs, not just the “big” things that go wrong.
- Miracles are my Divine Inheritance; if I am not asking for them, I am turning my back on God.
- I do not have to earn or bargain for my miracles - miracles are my right as a Child of God.

God’s Will for me is perfect happiness.

- Only my willingness to ask for miracles about everything that hurts me - in any area of my life - is necessary!
- God’s Love is an all encompassing mercy for His children, and so it’s not about our willingness to sacrifice!
- I am an intrinsic part of God. It is not His Will that any part of His Self should suffer!

There is no order of difficulty in miracles.

- God’s Power trumps any power of the world that I can see or imagine.
- So there is a perfect and simple solution to my problem, no matter how complex it may seem to me.
- The only limits to miracles are imposed by my own conflicted beliefs.

There past does not determine the possibility of miracles happening. NOW does.

- The power of the Christ is in the NOW.
- My past does not diminish Christ’s power to help, no matter how badly I judge myself (or others).
- If I decide that guilt makes me (or someone else) unworthy of miracles, I am placing my judgment above God’s.

My strength is divided and my understanding is limited so I will not depend on them.

- I have “mixed feelings” and do not trust God for I am a human in the world and God knows that.
- I acknowledge that I am using my power right now but I am using it to produce lack and limitation, not miracles!
- Jesus will lend me his strength and vision but only at my invitation - so my faith need not be perfect.

I allow the Christ within me to plan the details of my miracle.

- I will not limit the Christ within me to my learning from the past so that my future can be better.
- It is not my responsibility to figure out the perfect solution. It is only my responsibility to be willing.
- And I do not know enough - nor do I have the faith as yet - to make the miraculous happen on my own.

I declare everyone’s right to perfect happiness so that I may receive my own.

- By putting my opinion of what “should be” second to what CAN be, I make room for miracles in my life.
- God cannot give selectively so I offer miracles to everyone that I may open to receive and in so doing...
- I set God’s Laws in motion in my favor. And so my miracle is!

God wants me to be successful in this so that I can be a helper in the healing of the world.

Do I judge myself as “bad” for wanting this? Is it a “sin”?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Do I believe my miracle is “too big” to happen? Do I place limits on God’s power?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Is the situation it addresses “a pattern” in my life (is it “chronic”)?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
If chronic, does it promote my belief that I am unlovable?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Is there any fear attached to getting this miracle (like having what I want would hurt someone else, prove they were wrong or make me feel unsafe, bad, or frightened)?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
If yes, do I already know the fear involved? (If no, just give it to Christ for its healing.)
Do I feel this area of life is worthy of bringing to Christ for a miracle?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Do I believe that I have to DO (or LOSE) something to EARN this miracle?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Am I willing for every one involved in this situation to WIN?.....	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No
Am I willing to let go of the “solution” I think should happen?	<input type="checkbox"/> Yes	<input type="checkbox"/> No

Thank You, God, in advance for my miracle! _____
